THE INTERNATIONAL IMPACT OF THE COLD WAR

ORIGINS OF THE COLD WAR

- “Shotgun Marriage” during WWII
- US President Harry Truman and Soviet Union dictator Joseph Stalin disagreed on how Germany and Eastern Europe should be controlled after WWII.
- Recall US was capitalist; Soviet Union was communist.
- Stalin’s army ended up occupying almost all of Eastern Europe making them satellite states of the USSR.
- The rivalry for control between the US and the USSR led to a 46 year conflict known as the Cold War.

THE “IRON CURTAIN”

- British Prime Minister Winston Churchill agreed with Truman that Stalin was attempting to spread Soviet influence throughout the world.
- He commented that the world was now divided in two by an “iron curtain”; on one side communist, the other side capitalist.

TRUMAN DOCTRINE

- The Soviet Union attempted to expand its influence over the struggling nations of Greece and Turkey.
- President Truman pleaded to Congress in 1947 to financially assist these two countries to deter them from falling under Soviet control.
- Truman's promise to aid nations struggling against communist movements became known as the Truman Doctrine, setting a new course for American foreign policy.

CONTAINMENT POLICY

- In July 1947, George Keenan, an American diplomat, published an article about the global intentions of the Soviet Union.
- Keenan argued that the Soviet Union would be persistent and patient in its attempts to expand communist influence.
- His article presented a blueprint for the American policy of suppressing communism called containment.

MARSHALL PLAN

- After WWII, European countries were in dire need for food, fuel and medical supplies.
- Secretary of State George Marshall proposed a plan to help Europe financially recover, called the Marshall Plan.
- This aid helped facilitate good relationships between Western Europe and the US and also helped reduce the influence of communism on the continent.

THE BERLIN AIRLIFT

- June 1948 --Stalin cut off Berlin from Western contact
- All land routes to into city were blockaded by Soviet troops
- Truman decided to fly supplies to the cities citizens by air
- Berlin Airlift delivered supplies to the city for 11 months
- Possibility of war loomed
- Stalin finally reopened city

NATO & THE WARSAW PACT

NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY ORGANIZATION

- 1949
- Truman broke tradition dating to Washington's presidency, as he joined an alliance with European countries

WARSAW PACT

- Stalin responded to NATO by forming the Warsaw Pact in 1955
- Provided the same protection, but once a member a country could never leave alliance

These alliances created an atmosphere of competition and resulted in an arms race. 1952: The US developed its first hydrogen bomb. Roughly 1000 times more powerful than the atomic bomb, this temporarily gave the US an advantage in the arms race.

COMMUNISTS TAKEOVER CHINA

- In 1949 Chinese communist leader Mao Zedong emerged victorious in the Chinese Civil War.
- US had supported anti-communist forces in China during the war, but refused to intervene militarily.
- Americans were shocked at the communist victory in China; seen as a failure of the containment policy.

THE KOREAN WAR

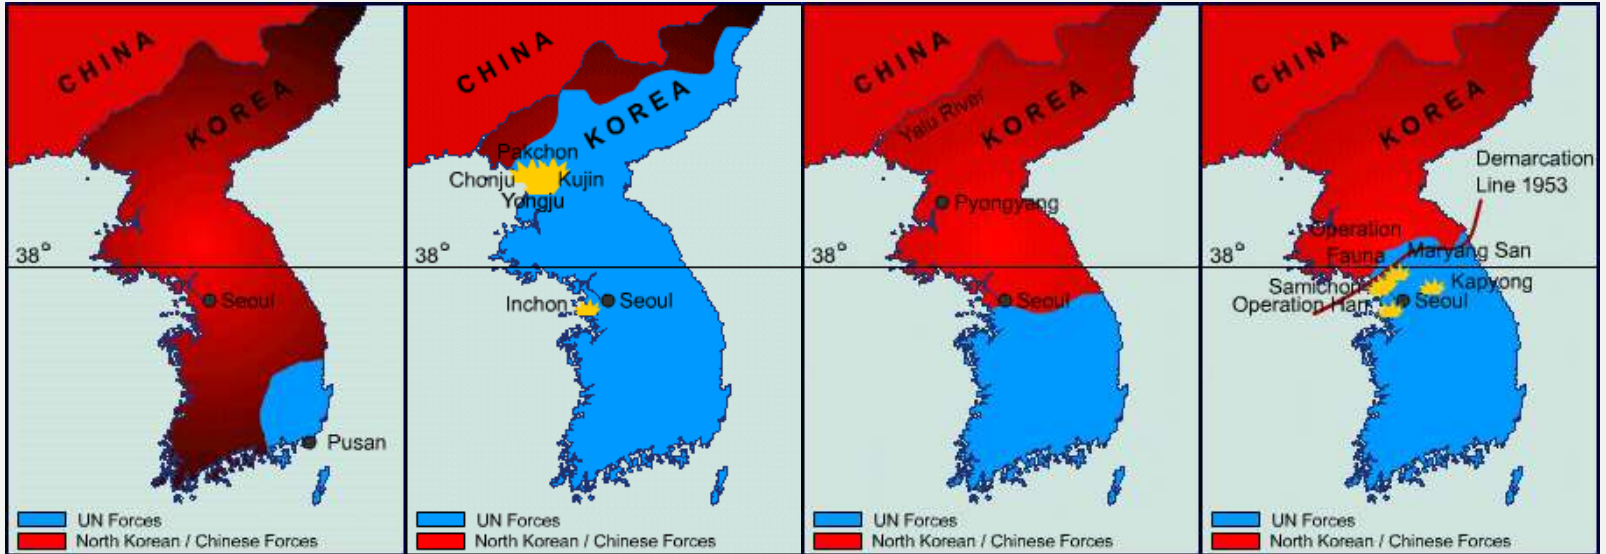

- After WWII, the Korean peninsula was divided at the 38th parallel.
- North Korea was under the control of the Soviet Union.
- South Korea was under the control of the United States.

THE KOREAN WAR

- In 1950, communist North Korea attacked south of the 38th parallel into South Korea with weapons supplied by the USSR.
- In response, President Truman sent in US troops to push back the North Korea army.
- When the US forced North Korea's army back above the 38th parallel China decided to send troops to assist the North Koreans.
- War ended in 1953 as a stalemate; no territory was gained or lost by either side.

THE DOMESTIC IMPACT OF THE COLD WAR

ANOTHER RED SCARE

- With the “loss” of China and the thousands of troop deaths in the Korean War, many Americans again became concerned about the growing influence of communism.
- This “Second Red Scare” caused more alarm, spreading deeper and wider than the Red Scare of the 1920’s.
- HUAC: House on Un-American Activities Committee created to search for communists in all aspects of American life. (government, army, unions, education, etc.)

SPY CASES WORRY AMERICANS

- Americans feared that spies were working within the United States to help steal secrets about constructing atomic weapons.
- Married couple Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were accused of helping pass along atomic secrets to the Soviet Union.
- Both were executed in 1953 for treason.

THE RISE OF JOE MCCARTHY

- In 1950, Wisconsin Senator Joseph McCarthy claimed that the US state department was overrun with communists.
- The victory of Zedong's communist regime in China and the outbreak of the Korean War only served to increase the popularity and power of Joseph McCarthy and his accusations.
- His quest to rid the government of communists became known as McCarthyism.
